

Right Use of Power:

The Heart of Ethics

A Workshop with

Cedar Barstow, M.Ed., C.H.T.

Misuses of power cause enormous harm and suffering.

The good news: you can learn to use the power you already have to repair and improve difficult relationships and situations.

- Increase your awareness of ordinary power dynamics and your impact on others.
- Increase your skillfulness when your impact doesn't match your intention.
- Learn how to stand in your strength and stay in your heart.
- Learn about power parameters and your power style.
- Find out how to stay connected & repair conflict.
- Become clearer and more pro-active with your personal and positional power.
- Learn how to manage relationships in which there is a difference in power.

RIGHT USE OF POWER

To Register:

Sue Fleming - 0785577715
Email: suemfleming@gmail.com

Location:

Emerson College, Forest Row, East
Grinstead, East Sussex
*B&B option available at the college

For more information visit:

www.rightuseofpower.com

Sat, June 8th -
Sun, June 9th 10am—6pm

This is a two-day experience for personal and professional development. Empowering, relevant and dynamic, this program is presented through talks, discussions & experiential practices.

£140 (waged)
£90 (non-waged)

You get £10 off for each person you introduce and attends!

Sat, June 8th -
Tues, June 11th 10am—6pm each day

This is a four-day training for those who wish to present Right Use of Power programs to others. Using the comprehensive and user-friendly Teacher's Resource Manual, we cover topics such as: use of available resources; leadership styles; designing, teaching, and evaluating skills; advanced topics; group management; feedback; and marketing.

£300 (includes 4 days/both workshops, facilitators manual & initial Guild membership fee)

